"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for the building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well-known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy cating, diets, milk, beer and almost everything else you could think of, but without result. I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable processes brought."

Nothing Miraculous

There is nothing so very remarkable about Protone results when one intelligently considers everything. The right thing must be employed; that's all protone is a tissue-builder, a feshmaker, and when it gets right down to business, it makes aimost a pound of good flesh a day. PROTONE works systematically and logically. It doesn't do guess-work and bungle. It first builds in the nerves. Nothing good can be accomplished with defective, shackley herves. There is no use trying. Among the first things that the TAKER OF PROTONE

Extreme leanness denotes poor health, a wrong disposition of the body's resources. And this must be corrected or the worst consequences may follow. There is bad assimilation; the food is not making the right sort of stuff that it should; imperfect nutrition follows, and as bad as it is, it may not reach its destination. Starvation is going on and the fiesh to the first to feel the famine. PROTONE steps in here with its corrective agencies and things are put to right.

The machinery of the whole system is reduced to healthy action and every function of the body is at its old stand doing its duty. PROTONE is a flesh-maker and muscle-mechanic. His province is to rebuild what has been wantonly torn down.
